Getting Your Learner's Permit

The first step to learning to drive is to get your learner's permit. To do this, you'll need to:

- Be at least 15 years old (the age varies by state)
- Pass a written test on traffic laws and road signs
- Pass a vision test

Once you have your learner's permit, you can start practicing driving with a licensed driver who is at least 21 years old. You must have your learner's permit with you every time you drive.

Driving Lessons

Taking driving lessons is a great way to learn how to drive safely and responsibly. A qualified driving instructor can teach you the basics of driving, such as how to start and stop your car, how to turn, and how to parallel park.

Driving lessons can also help you to develop good driving habits, such as always wearing your seatbelt, driving the speed limit, and avoiding distractions.

The Road Test

Once you've had enough practice, you'll be ready to take your road test. The road test is a test of your driving skills and knowledge. To pass the road test, you'll need to:

- Drive safely and responsibly
- Obey all traffic laws

- Demonstrate good driving skills

If you pass your road test, you'll be issued a driver's license.

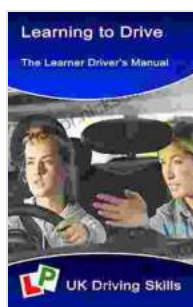

Safe and Responsible Driving

Once you have your driver's license, it's important to continue to drive safely and responsibly. Here are some tips:

- Always wear your seatbelt
- Drive the speed limit
- Avoid distractions
- Never drive under the influence of alcohol or drugs
- Be aware of your surroundings
- Drive defensively

By following these tips, you can help to keep yourself and others safe on the road.

Learning to drive is an exciting and empowering experience. But it's also a big responsibility. By following the tips in this manual, you can learn how to drive safely and responsibly. So get out there and start driving!
